

Copenhagen Business School

EULASUR WORK-SHOP COPENHAGEN

MARCH 14. -16. 2012

Work-Shop Copenhagen

Organized by:

J. Nielsen/L. B. Rasmussen, CBS

N. Trevisan, VN

H. A. Bacarini, UNLu

S. Garelik, CSIC

Work-Shop Copenhagen

- Contacts and confidence between the researchers and economic and social stakeholders must be build
- Interaction: Universities, industrial companies, public agencies, NGO's and citizens
- Collaborations projects and proposals for the future

Themes in Copenhagen

Materials of social, economical and political interest

Starting-up and managing companies in the field of Materials and Nanomaterials

Starting-up and managing companies in the field of Materials and Nanomaterials

- Innovative forms of promoting the creation of start up companies
- Evaluation of experiences in both regions
- Benchmarking of best practices
- Valorisation of scientific results which could become profitable to business
- Policies for attracting public and private resources for entrepreneurship etc.

Materials of social, economical and political interest

- Bringing all actors involved in research and technology together with industry, public institutions, NGO's and citizens.
- Design management models of public and private interaction
- Public policies of R&D according to the economic and social development
- Impact on the environment and impact on the health of the industry
- Organization and management of research in universities and in public centres
- Intellectual property of innovation processes in Europe and BRAU
- Activities of knowledge and technology transfer organizations
etc.

EULASUR Work-Shop Copenhagen

10 paid travels will be offered to researchers from outside of the consortium

5 EU

5 Latin America

EULASUR Work-Shop Copenhagen

Day 1: Start-Up in Nanomaterials

Invited lectures

Plenary

Round table

Practical session

Day 2: Social, political and human Aspects of Nanosceinces/ -materials

Invited lectures

Round table

Working session

Main social event

Day 3: Collaborations and projects

Invited lectures

Working session

Plenary session

Visits

VENUE

COPENHAGEN BUSINESS SCHOOL

EULASUR

Eulasur will:

- Create a forum to promote dialogue and cooperation to form strategic partnerships between Europe and Latin American countries.
- Establish new projects based on the networks formed through previous projects.
- Create new business opportunities, innovation and entrepreneurships.
- Contribute to social cohesion, sustainable development and fair globalization through nanotechnology
- ICT for Design and Network Innovation and Entrepreneurship

